I have no objection to reasonable advertising on the exterior of the buses. Also feel greater effort could be made for advertising inside buses; currently most of signs are regarding bus and other government notices. Considering the amount of advertising on commercial vehicles (cars as well as trucks), I don't see any difference.

As a senior, I wouldn't even object to a small increase in the price of annual senior citizen passes -- maybe $50.00? Most seniors who cannot afford $50 per year, probably qualify for economic assistance which could include a free bus pass!
